

Happiness

text: Benny Andersen translation: Alexander Taylor
music: John Frandsen

Molto rubato ♩=60
pp sempre dolce

S.A. p

T.B. p

There's some-thing spe-cial a-bout hap - pi-ness, you can be-come whol - ly glad

5

mp

pp

when you meet it, but un - ea - sy too, stand still a while, steal so gin-ger - ly

9

mf

and every time you set your foot down for - ward as if in a mine-field, and eve - ry time you set your foot down with -

13

f

you ei - ther for - get out be-ing blown to pie - ces you ei - ther for - get to en - joy your hap-pi-ness

you ei - ther for - get

you ei - ther for - get

17 mp pp poco f

how long it will last. how long it will last. So that when ad - or get sore o - ver not know-ing how long it will last. how long it will last.

how long it will last.

21 ff sub. p

ver - si - ty fi - nally turns up it's a re - lief, as if you had reached safe - ty,

25 pp

it's real - ly a shame be - cause there's some-thing spe - cial a - bout hap - pi - ness which you

29 ppp

o - ther-wise ne - ver meet, per-haps there's the fault: We know too lit - tle a we know too lit - tle a -

33 poco

bout it, we have to be-come bet - ter ac quain - ted to it. I ac - quain - ted to it.

36 mf p

think it's a question of trai - ning.